The 27 marinas in the Occitanie-Pyrénées-Méditerranée region have almost 30,000 mooring rings collectively.

The Coast of Catalonia is geographically the furthest southern tip and the perfect destination for recreational boaters who come here all year round for the mild climate and all kinds of nautical events: sporting or leisure regatas, nautical trade shows, a stage of the Sailing Tour de France and much more. All of that in a remarkably preserved natural setting and a protected environment.

The European Blue Flag certification is an international label recognised in tourism, and the symbol of exemplary environmental quality. The European Blue Flag was created by the French office for the Foundation for Environmental Education in 1985. The certification rewards and showcases towns and marinas who show every year that they adopt an ongoing research policy and sustainable application of a top-quality environment.

International Blue Flag Label for ports

Winners of the Blue Flag 2019:

- ✓ Saint-Cyprien marina ("4 rings" level of quality)
- ✓ Argelès-sur-Mer port
- ✓ Port-Vendres marina
- ✓ Saint-Ange port in Port-Barcarès

Port-Barcarès

Port-Barcarès is particularly original because it is divided between a marine lake, an exceptional 7,000-hectare area where Mother Nature reigns, and the Mediterranean. The port here is a welcoming and inviting place, with a combination of traditional fishing and sailing.

- ✓ Number of berths: 1,800
- ✓ Grau Saint-Ange port is the ideal place for lovers of the sea to come and witness the fishing trades that are still very much present here.
- ✓ You'll find the perfect combination of ancient sailing practices on a Catalan rowing boat ("llaguts de rem") and ultra-modern water sports. Port-Barcarès has cleverly created an atmosphere that combines happiness, modernity and authenticity.

Canet-en-Roussillon

Just a few miles away from the coves, on the edge of a sandy beach, Canet-en-Roussillon port is a peaceful and comfortable place for recreational boaters to stop off. With all services nearby, the jetties are secured by a locked gate and CCTV surveillance cameras.

- ✓ Number of mooring rings: 1,340
- ✓ Discovery Pass: 3 consecutive nights come with free access to cultural and sports facilities.
- ✓ North side of the port: a technical area for boat services, boatyards, ship chandler's, a nautical centre and a dock for old sailing boats.

Saint-Cyprien

"4 rings" level of quality

Saint-Cyprien port is the 2nd biggest Marina in the Mediterranean and 3rd biggest European Marina. You are guaranteed a pleasant stay here and in complete safety, thanks to the top-quality welcome services and the wide range of complementary services available. In coming from the north, Saint-Cyprien is the last port on the coastline where boaters can stop off before reaching the Rocky Coast.

Arriving from the south, it provides welcome shelter from the Tramontane winds.

- ✓ 2,300 mooring rings.
- ✓ Fishing port with small-scale fishing activities that keep the traditional practices alive: fishing (remeshing nets, boat maintenance and sale of fish on the docks).

Argelès-sur-Mer

The ideal stopover in a port with 997 mooring rings and all the services you'll need: refuelling, handling, ship chandler's, sailmakers, boat repairs. Just a few miles away from Cap Béar, you'll enjoy mooring your boat here for a few days at the heart of Catalonia.

Collioure

Collioure is well-known for its clock tower, anchovies and Matisse and Derain's visit which led to the invention of the Fauvism movement in painting. You'll particularly appreciate the mild climate here and the beautiful clear waters and sandy beaches. Collioure still has a small marina, bearing witness to its past as a fishing village. A charming port with 5 boats and 3 "llaguts de rem" (Catalan boats).

- ✓ Number of berths: 106 mooring rings (+ mooring on buoys)
- ✓ The Catalan boats with their flamboyant colours were once used for anchovies fishing.

Port-Vendres

The name Port-Vendres comes from Portus Veneris, Venus' port, and it is the last deep-water port on the attractive Rocky Coast, at the heart of a traditional Catalan town that remains lively all year round thanks to the port activities. Port-Vendres marina is a much-appreciated stopover for all those who sail on the high-seas.

The international commercial port (the only commercial port in the Pyrénées-Orientales) presents all the best advantages for trading fruit and vegetables.

Port-Vendres is the closest port on the French continent to North Africa and the Balearic islands. It is often a chosen stopover for cruise ships arriving from Barcelona and the PACA region of France. "The shortest crossing in the calmest waters". The typically Mediterranean fishing port is the number one fishing port in Roussillon, with 4,000 tonnes of fish unloaded and sold here.

- ✓ Number of mooring rings: 267

Banyuls-sur-Mer

This charming fishing port and marina has 320 berths. It is 12 nautical miles from Cap Creus so you can easily explore the superb coves all the way to Cap Creus and come back in the same day. In the winter, it is the only port on the Vermeille Coast that offers boat trips to Cap Béar.

- ✓ Number of mooring rings: 350.
